"BIG JIM" TELLS STORY OF TELEPHONE BOODLE

Tale of Treachery With Pacific States Co. Recited Like Child's Lesson

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Telling his story in the fashion of a child repeating its lesson, correcting his questioner if he did not think he was interested properly, offering suggestions, and being faithful in his answers, "Big Jim" Gallagher occupied the witness stand for almost four solid hours in Judge Lawlor's court this morning.

The prosecution has arrived at the subject of the Home Telephone bribery, and the double story of the bribery board was clearly brought out by their chief in today's testimony.

Of all the crime that they had confessed to committing, the order of the day, it was this that Gallagher had to tell. He had accepted twelve money from the Pacific States telephone company to vote against the Home company, and later he had voted in favor of the latter company after they had received another bribe.

He was not alone in this. He had not returned the bribe money to the corporation which had first bought the vote.

Gallagher testified that he had a conversation at the Pup restaurant, in which he told Ruef that he had seen the members of the board of supervisors at a box office at the pavilion, and had talked to Wilson, Harrison, Longman and others.

"There were a number there," said Gallagher. "I do not recall their names, now."

"I object to that," put in Ach. "As far as responsibility is the question, no foundation has been laid. He has no right to answer that way."

"Oh, well," put in Heney, "we want to make the record straight, so you can take it to another court." (Implying that Ruef would be convicted.)

"We take exception to that remark of the district attorney," cried Ach. "The case will never go to another court."

Gallagher said he had had a later conversation with Ruef in his office toward the end of March, 1935.

"State what happened at this meeting and what was said and done by you and Heney," questioned Heney.

"Mr. Ruef stated he was ready to turn over the money in the Home Telephone matter. He then proceeded to count out money which was in currency. He handed a portion of the money to me, which was to be turned over. I took it and left the office."

"How much money was it?"

"I cannot give the exact amount."

RATTLING EVIDENCE AGAINST SNAKE CHARMER

"Australian Wild Girl" Took Reptiles, Which Manager of Show Claims Were Stolen.

Los Osos, 28 years of age, said to be a snake charmer, and who has been widely advertised as the "Australian wild girl," appeared in the police court this morning on a charge of felony.

He was charged with the theft of a number of rattlesnakes which were the property of his manager in the show business. The snakes are at present in custody and were shown today on eggs and bits of meat. They will eventually be turned over to the owner as the police feel they are too slippery customers to take any chances with.

Osborne was given until November 20 for his examination, as he has no attorney as yet to represent him. When his case is called the snakes will be taken into custody as rattling evidence against him.

ACCUSED OF ILTREATMENT
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Detectives Gallagher and McGowan yesterday arrested Nels H. Hall, who is wanted in San Diego county for alleged gross illtreatment of his family. He was turned over to the sheriff last night and locked up in jail at Redwood City.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Superior Judge Carroll Cook this morning sentenced Charles Lavelle, a tailor, to six months in the county jail on a charge of felonious burglary. Lavelle tried to break into a saloon on Front street early in October, but was caught in the act by the police.

MRS. MARTIN ALMOST ON VERGE OF HYSTERICS

Tedium of the Trial Is Wearing Upon Her

"I can't stand this. This is infernal," exclaimed Mrs. Isabella J. Martin in Judge Wells' court this morning, following a discussion over the introduction of evidence regarding transcripts of testimony made from the reporter's notes on the Weaver-Veal trial of Mrs. Martin.

"No, your honor, those transcripts have all been tampered with," exclaimed Mrs. Martin.

"I demand that the reporter who first made the notes be summoned. I won't stand for this. Its nothing short of outrageous."

During the outburst of feeling by Mrs. Martin, Attorney Frick remained seated at the attorneys' table, indicating clearly annoyance from the behavior of his client.

"Your honor," interposed Assistant District Attorney Heney, "I believe the defendant's counsel should make the objections if any are to be made. I ask that the defendant be compelled to sit down."

Mrs. Martin sat down. To a TRIBUNE reporter she said:

"Frick will drive me to suicide. I can't stand this. I can't stand this!"

Verge of Hysteria
That Mrs. Martin was on the verge of hysteria was emphatically evident. Martin White took a chair beside the accused woman and soon managed to get her under self control.

For several minutes Mrs. Martin sat muttering to herself. Then, showing signs of weakness, the woman left her chair and walked into Judge Wells' private chambers. Martin White accompanied her. In a moment she came out and stepped up to Judge Wells, who was standing beside the bench.

"What's the matter?" inquired Judge Wells.

"Take your seat, madam," All previous signs of weakness had by this time completely vanished and during the examination of George W. Miller, a commercial photographer of San Francisco, who had taken photographs of scenes of Mrs. Martin's letters, the woman went to the platform in the front part of the court room and occupied an attitude of prayer, lowering her arms, which which was handed her by Martin White.

Weeps in Court
Her attitude lasted only a few minutes. Hurriedly removing her hat, she buried her head in her arms on the platform and wept audibly for several minutes. Mrs. White remained beside her, attempting to console her.

Attorney Frick, following Mrs. Martin's demonstration, explained that the woman's mental condition was such that she misinterprets many proceedings and that her exhibition this morning was merely additional evidence of this disturbed mental condition.

"I had no intention of introducing the transcripts," said Attorney Frick. "I simply explained that at a later date when that feature of the trial came up certain steps might be taken relative to the introduction of the transcripts. Mrs. Martin, as she has done several times, misconstrued my meaning. That's all there is to it."

Seems Refreshed
Much refreshed from her night's sleep, Mrs. Martin appeared in court this morning when her trial was resumed. Previous to the beginning of the court proceedings she was in a state of exhaustion with her attorneys. She seemed to be somewhat wrought up over something, but she offered no explanation for her apparent mental disturbance. During the reading of a clipping from THE TRIBUNE, under date of December 2, 1935, referring to an action of Judge Ogden before the State Supreme Court, which, according to the district attorney, was introduced as evidence to show the time when she first learned the given name of Judge Ogden, Frank, Mrs. Martin became exceedingly attentive. Her attorney, Judge Frick, attempted to speak to her during the reading of the article, but she waved him aside impatiently.

Mr. Abraham, a powder merchant of Weaverville, was the first witness called this morning. He was questioned briefly regarding the sale of dynamite to Mrs. Martin. Shown a book of orders for sales the witness was asked:

"Did you on November 25, 1935, make a sale to Mrs. Martin?"

"Yes, on that date I sold her 25 pounds of dynamite, the composition of which was 70 per cent picric. The price of same was $2.25, all of which is shown by entries in this book."

Not Only Time
Attorney Frick asked:

"That was not the only date upon which you sold Mrs. Martin dynamite, was it?"

"No, I sold her powder and explosives for several years."

Following Abrahamson's testimony, Geo. W. Miller of San Francisco was placed on the stand. More than an hour's time was occupied by the latter in identifying negatives made of letters dictated to him by Mrs. Martin. Identification of prints and enlarged prints from these negatives was also made by Miller. Much of the photographic evidence was

YESTERDAY'S SESSION

Crowded as the court room was at the morning session of the trial the attendance yesterday afternoon was even greater. Several new witnesses were placed on the stand and in almost every instance testimony was introduced showing the alleged power of the accused woman over "Baby" John.

Poisoning of Mule
Asked about the poisoning of a mule at Weaver-Veal, Miss Deinkwater said that prior to the arrest of John R. Martin, Mrs. Martin, at the hotel where the latter was stopping, often told Miss Deinkwater that John had been a good boy all his life and that he would not do such a thing as poison a mule.

"Just what were some of the expressions used by Mrs. Martin?" asked Judge Hall.

"She said: 'John is a good boy. He wouldn't do anything wrong. He always does everything I tell him to. Any one that claims anything else is true is a damned liar.'"

"Was Mrs. Martin in the habit of using such language?"

"Yes. It was nothing unusual to hear her employ an oath."

Another Witness
Mrs. Mary E. Crow of Fruitvale, a former neighbor of Mrs. Martin, at this point succeeded Miss Deinkwater to the stand.

"I lived close to Mrs. Martin at 771 Twenty-first street," said Mrs. Crow. "One morning she sent 'Baby' John for some bread. When the boy returned he seemed a little slow in mounting the stairs. She (Mrs. Martin) said: 'Here, hurry up there damn you!' and grabbed the bread from the boy."

"Did Mrs. Martin say anything to you about her alleged son?" asked Judge Hall.

"Yes. She said: '— this boy, I'm going to put in a police ship.'"

"After she grabbed the bread what did Mrs. Martin do?"

"She kicked John severely besides grabbing the bread."

At this point Mrs. Martin seemed to be greatly disturbed. She consulted with her attorney and resorted to making notes which occupied her for fully fifteen minutes.

900 BROADWAY, COR. 8th ST., OAKLAND

Advertising for Holiday Trade.

Prospects are bright for a booming holiday trade this year. The last three seasons were banner periods for Oakland merchants, and this year the local holiday trade promises to reach the high water mark.

There is a spirit of optimism abroad which finds its expression in generous buying and giving during the Christmas-tide. Business is good and improving every day; few are idle, and remuneration in all lines of employment affords a safe margin for saving and spending above the expense of comfortable living. Conditions are growing better day by day. Hence, the vast majority of people are prepared to enjoy themselves during the holidays, and to remember their friends with generous gifts. There will be liberal buying in consequence, and great activity in trade circles.

The biggest share of the holiday trade will come to those who advertise for it. Shoppers naturally seek the stores which have made known in advance the bargains they have to offer. In a busy time people have little time and less inclination to hunt out the articles they desire to purchase, and to inquire of tradesmen what they have to sell and the prices they charge.

It is a great aid to holiday shoppers to be told where they can find what they want to buy and the prices at which the goods are sold. Before starting out they look the advertisements over and make notes of where the articles they wish to purchase can be found. With a list of articles and prices in hand they inquire for what they want when they reach the stores, and thus save time and trouble for themselves and work and worry for salesmen.

So judicious advertising not only brings customers, but expedites business and saves time and expense to the tradesmen.

Now is the time to advertise. It pays always, but doubly pays during the holiday season when all the world and his wife are shopping and everybody is in a hurry. At such times the skillful advertiser makes business for himself and saves money to his customers, who are enabled by a study of advertisements to ascertain just where to go for their holiday purchases and to accurately apportion the amount they desire to spend.

Alameda county is one of the best trade fields in the world, and THE TRIBUNE is the best advertising medium in California. It goes into 50,000 homes in this prosperous community. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Growth of Population Forcing Consolidation.

The growth of Oakland's suburbs to the north and east has of late years been something marvelous. It promises to continue indefinitely. In doing so, it is forcing municipal consolidation whether we like it or not. These suburbs have a common interest with the city in roadways, sewers and schools and all other matters associated with municipal life. The greater part of these suburbs are now and ever will be compelled to use Oakland's sewers as outlets for their sewage. And as the growth of population continues new complications are created in school accommodations. These complications are sources of inconvenience to the people which are becoming more intense with the passing of time.

Oakland and its growing suburbs are also experiencing the handicap which grows out of the lack of anything like mutual agreement regarding the maintenance of interurban roadways. Each one is compelled to follow its own policy whether it corresponds or not with that of its neighbor.

These are, of course, only a few of the municipal interests in which the city and its suburbs are mutually concerned and which the marvelous growth of population and the rapid settlement of the territory they cover are intensifying to such a degree that municipal consolidation is apparently inevitable at an early date as a means of joint relief and mutual benefit. In saying this we do not mean consolidation by the borough system, which will neither remove the present complications nor the burden of municipal expense, but one consolidated municipal government in general control, which will be able to carry out the plans of municipal improvement on broad and harmonious lines for the general benefit and conduct the business of the future city with the greatest economy.

Complaints are made that depositing oil refuse in San Leandro bay threatens to destroy the oyster beds. The practice is in direct violation of both Federal and State law, yet no measures are taken to prevent it. Great masses of oil scum are encountered in many parts of San Francisco bay and its arms, fouling the shores and destroying the fishing grounds, but nobody seems to mind, particularly the officials whose duty it is to prevent and punish persons who dump oil refuse into the waters in violation of law. It has been pointed out that the oil scum drifting in the piling under wharves enormously increases the danger from fire, as oil will burn as readily on water as on land and can hardly be extinguished. Some of these days a disastrous fire along the San Francisco or Oakland water front will rouse the public to a sense of the evils and danger of allowing the bay to be made the receptacle of oil refuse.

Of course, Hatfield, the J. C. Dunham suspect, has been discharged from custody, as everybody, except one or two hysterical women, who had known Dunham before the McGlincy murders were committed, and the Deputy United States Marshal from Texas, who made the arrest, anticipated he would be. A large number of persons who were intimately acquainted with Dunham during his residence in Santa Clara county were unable to see in Hatfield any resemblance to the long-sought murderer. Of course, the Deputy United States Marshal will be chagrined at the outcome, because he was interested in collecting the reward for Dunham's capture, and Santa Clara county or the State will have to foot a bill, for the second time, for the transportation to and from Texas and the keep of a fake suspect.

Colonel Guffy's boast that he had helped put an end to Bryan would have more point if the Republican majority in Pennsylvania had not been cut down. Colonel Guffy does not appear to have materially affected the result.

Hunters Point Drydock Sale.

The acquisition of the Hunters Point Drydock by the Bethlehem Steel Works, of which Charles M. Schwab is president, is one of the most important industrial deals that has taken place across the bay since the calamity of April, 1906. The Union Iron Works has been in the ownership of the Schwab Steel Syndicate for several years. It is understood that the purchase of the drydock property was primarily prompted by a policy of economy. By co-operating the iron works and drydock properties, they can be operated conjointly more effectively and at a materially reduced cost. Schwab's plans are said to embrace the removal of the iron works plant to Hunters Point and the sale of the abandoned site. It is rumored that the Western Pacific desires to acquire the Petroni property. Another report is to the effect that the Union Iron Works will not be disturbed; but that an auxiliary repair plant will be erected at Hunters Point.

The change of ownership of the drydock property means, in all probability the early commencement of work on the big drydock projected some years ago and whose plans were completed before the disaster of 1906 which delayed its construction by the old company indefinitely. When built it will be the largest graving dock in the world. It will be 1050 feet in length and will have a depth of 30 feet and 5 inches. It will be, therefore, 170 feet longer than the world's present greatest dock which is at Glasgow, Scotland.

Evidently Schwab and his associates have been largely influenced in the purchase, also, by the conviction that Congress will at an early day pass a ship subsidy bill which will stimulate the ship-building industry on this coast immensely and develop the American mercantile marine on the Pacific on a large scale. Then, again, they are evidently anticipating the permanent location on this coast of a fleet of warships of equal number and strength to the fleet maintained in Atlantic waters, all of which will furnish ample business to private and government dockyards. It is surmised also that a rolling mill of the most improved modern type will be added to the plant to manufacture rails out of the tens of thousands of tons of scrap iron and steel remaining unused since the great fire, and the product of the inexhaustible deposits of iron ore at Hemat, Shasta county, which the development of a workable electric smelting furnace by a Stanford University professor, who recently resigned from the faculty to take charge of the smelter at Hemat, has made available as a permanent source of supply.

In the light of these prospective developments, the change of ownership of the drydock property is of the greatest importance and significance to the industrial and commercial interests of not only San Francisco, but of all the bay cities.

At a recent dinner given by New York advertising men, Dr. Wiley, head of the pure food bureau, suggested under the pure food law, it might become his duty to prosecute the publishers of magazines and newspapers for printing in their publications advertisements of various adulterated foods and drinks falsely represented to be pure. The pure food law is taken as a whole a very salutary piece of legislation; but if there is anything that can be done to make it ridiculous and nullify its beneficent effects it is to carry out Dr. Wiley's suggestion to the ad. men. Such an extreme literal construction of the law as he put upon it would make it imperative for every newspaper and magazine publisher in the country to maintain an analytical chemistry department on the premises in whose laboratory an analysis of samples of foods and drinks to be advertised should be made to prove their purity before the advertisement could be accepted.

The election of Democratic governors in Ohio, Indiana and Minnesota cannot afford much consolation to Bryan. All of the governors-elect belong to the conservative wing of the party. Judson Harmon was in Cleveland's cabinet, and Marshall, who defeated Watson in Indiana, was a Gold Democrat in 1896. Johnson of Minnesota was not in favor at Denver because of his sympathies with the business interests. Hence the Democratic successes in the East smack of a repudiation of Bryanism.

There is no mystery about how New York City came to go for Taft. The sample ballots sent out from Tammany hall just before the election had crosses set opposite the names of the Republican electors. Charlie Murphy voted his braves at Denver for Bryan, but for Taft on election day. Betting men in California knew of this in advance.

The Houston Post consoles itself with the reflection that the Democracy has God and Texas left. Coupling God with Texas is about as consistent as the late attempt to harness the Populism of the Wild West up with Wall Street. However, Missouri has gone Republican and Texas may finally decide to come back into the Union.

The regrets the New York World expresses over the failure of the Democrats to win the election have a Pecksniffian flavor. They appear to spring more from joy than sorrow. Gratification at the permanent retirement of Bryan as a Presidential candidate appears to predominate over sorrow at Democratic defeat.

Yesterday afternoon our enterprising contemporary said in startling headlines that it was reported that Edna Clark had been found. The report appears to have been current only in the Enquirer office. Moral: If you want an exclusive story manufacture it yourself.

The gross earnings of the St. Paul road for October, 1908, show a marked increase over the corresponding month of last year. This does not look like an argument in favor of increasing freight rates.

Here is Uncle Joe Cannon talking tariff reform—after the election. Something will surely be doing in the next Congress.

Our Democratic friends will soon be so busy and prosperous that they will forget to be sorry Bryan was not elected.

Bryan has not only taught his party to expect defeat, but he has almost reconciled a majority of Democrats to it.

Taft Burns Down.
WALLACE, Idaho, Nov. 12.—The death of James H. Taft, the serious injury of Elsie Leonard and attempts to burn a barn named Green, who he infuriated citizens believed to be an incendiary, were the leading features of a fire which destroyed, for a second time, within three months, the town of Taft, just across the Idaho-Montana State line. The loss was about $100,000, with $50,000 insurance.

STEVENS TO BE WITNESS AGAIN

Judge Sturtevant's Decision That He Will Have to Answer Questions, Is Victory.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Judge Sturtevant, from a decision rendered yesterday afternoon, directed Attorney Martin Stevens, who refused to answer several questions propounded to him by the district attorney, to the grand jury room to tell fully his relations with R. A. S. Blake and Attorney Frank Murphy, subject, however, to certain conditions in the latter case.
Over an hour and a half was spent in argument with Assistant District Attorneys Harmon and Cook on one side, and Attorney A. J. Black representing the defense. All of the questions propounded in the grand jury room were read in court and Judge Sturtevant finally decided that Stevens should answer certain questions regarding his relations with Blake, and also questions pertaining to his dealings with Murphy up to the time that he could show that he was lawfully employed as attorney for the latter. This is considered a victory for the prosecution and Stevens will be again called as a witness when the grand jury meets. It is thought, however, that the legal body will not hold any session today.

'BLOODY COMEDY'

BY SICK ACTORS
Supposed Candidate for Death on Operating Table Springs at Fellow Sufferer.

A "bloody comedy" was enacted in the operating room of the Receiving Hospital yesterday, when Charles Baker, living at 474 Sixth street, was stretched out on the operating table, supposed to be dying from poisoning. George Reid, a steam-fitter of 1802 Seventh street, was having a bung gash in his right arm, sustained by falling through a window, sutured by Dr. Bell.
Baker was groaning and complained of being robbed of $125. His cries aroused Reid, who was suffering the pain of a surgical needle running through his arm, and despite the misery he was undergoing, he laughed out loud at the supposed dying man, who sprang from the table, rushed at Reid, ready to whip him. Dr. Koford was sending over Baker at the time and it was only his efforts that saved the "dying" man from mixing in a fist fight with the other patient. Reid laughed again at Baker, who sprang from the operating table a second time. He was finally strapped down and prevented from interfering with the operation on Reid. Dr. Bell took an extra deep breath at the steam-fitter's arm and all the blood was out of him.
Dr. Koford, who treated Baker, said his case was one of acute mania and that he was not suffering from poisoning as he imagined. Baker was removed to the Providence Hospital.

CREATES SENSATION.
FRESNO, Nov. 12.—United States District Attorney Lawler created a sensation in the Federal Court yesterday when he attempted to introduce evidence in the case of the government against S. L. Liles to prove that the defendant, after holding thirty-five miles of land, surrounded about acres of government land and also his own holdings, sent thousands of dollars in an attempt to secure the entire acreage by illegally leasing his holdings upon the property. The property is in the Fresno district, about 50 miles southwest of this city.

"Society? Never!" Says Helen Taft;
College? Yes, While Father's President

MISS HELEN TAFT.

WHAT SHE'LL REALLY DO.

Miss Helen Taft, only daughter of President-elect William H. Taft and the logical chief debater of the season and leader of the younger Washington social set after her father takes his seat in the White House, issued her plain pronouncement at Bryn Mawr College, just outside of Philadelphia, today, and declared firmly that she intended finishing her studies and remaining two years at the institution.

Miss Taft, who is now in her eighteenth year, made her statement about foregoing the splendors and allures of the Washington season, exclusively to the Evening Journal. She was at Bryn Mawr and declared very positively that she had every intention of remaining there for the whole length of her father's new term of office.

Will Remain in Bryn Mawr
"Let me say," said Miss Taft, "that

WHAT THE PUBLIC EXPECTS.

I have no intention of changing my plan that I made when I entered Bryn Mawr this fall.

"I do not intend to go to Washington, except, perhaps, during vacation, but I shall continue right here. Of course, I am going through college, I am. That's what I entered for."

"No, I shall not make my debut in Washington, either in the spring or next fall. Next fall will find me back here at Bryn Mawr. I have no social plans that include Washington."

Miss Taft is of a staid, serious turn of mind, and it was intended that she should go through college.

But it is believed by her friends that, in spite of her own decision, the pressure of Washington social life will prove too much for her parents and she will leave Bryn Mawr to become the most important debutante of the season, the national capital has been in a long time.

Quite the American

Miss Taft is five feet eight inches in height. She has many of her father's chief qualities, those of the student and of the lover of outdoor life. She comes by this more or less through unconscious assimilation, for she has been her father's companion during much of her life, and they are more alike than father and daughter usually are.

In appearance Miss Taft is quite the American. She is pretty, but not strikingly so. She has a pair of fine eyes, deep brown in color, with very long lashes. Her hair is thick, she has masses of it, and it is of the texture and of a beautiful golden blonde in hue.

The girl, although a great reader, she was called a bookworm and a dreamer when she was a child. She is quite far from the childish type of modern young femininity. She is sturdy and an optimist. Her surroundings, ready to her lips and even more ready to her blue eyes. She is just the natural, American girl without frills—the good, strong mind in the sound body.

LOVE FOR BABE MAY SAVE WOMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Buoied by a desire to live for the sake of her 17-months-old baby, Mrs. Helen Hanauer of 1933 Cambridge street will probably recover from the bullet wounds inflicted by a rejected admirer, it was said at the German Hospital this morning, but her would be murderer, Emmanuel Clayton Smith, is beyond hope. It was announced at St. Joseph's Hospital.

When Mrs. Hanauer was taken to the hospital it was feared that she would last only a few hours, as one of the bullets had penetrated her head above the right eye, but when Magistrate Dunn in taking her statement concerning the shooting mentioned her child, this seemed to rouse her into a struggle for life. "This morning it was said that she had improved to such an extent that there was some hope of her recovery."

May Die Before Night

The bullet which Smith fired into his own body struck close to the heart, and before nightfall it is expected that he will die, as he wishes. Police investigation of the tragedy has brought out the fact that Mrs. Hanauer brought about the attack upon herself by her determined efforts to lead an upright life. About two years ago she became separated from her husband, Francis E. Hanauer, who, she says, is an insurance agent and lives in Germantown. Then Mrs. Hanauer went to live with her brother at 2152 Mervine street, where Smith and his widowed mother also lived.

Admirer Was Jealous

Since then, according to the police, Smith, who has been serving as a sub-letter carrier at the Central Postoffice,

NEW YORK.—Twenty homeless men were sleeping in doorways and trying to keep warm in Sixth avenue, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets, at 1 a. m. today, when a well-dressed young woman awoke them, one at a time, and handed each a sandwich and a cup of coffee.

"Take these," said the woman, quietly, "and your bed will not be so hard. It might be warmer, too."

The woman, who was not known there, entered an all-night restaurant a few minutes before and ordered sandwiches and twenty cups of coffee. "I don't want them for myself," she explained. "I want them for those poor men out there in the open."

Then she called two men to her aid and the sandwiches and coffee were taken to the sleepers in the doorway. "I counted them carefully," she said to

Stole Man's Clothing

DENVER.—Rose Gregory, whose appearance on the street, clad only in a blanket, created somewhat of a sensation, was arrested at Sixteenth and California streets by Sergeant Russell and Patrolman Madsen. She was plentifully clothed, but in male apparel, from shoes to hat.

At the time of her previous escapade she told Chief Armstrong that a gentleman friend had stolen her clothing. This time she reverses the story by saying that to get even with the same "gentleman" she appropriated his clothing and left her own for him.

She was suffering from severe bruises on the face and head, and complained of a pain in her left side. She claimed to have fallen down a flight of stairs at her rooming house. Police Surgeon Preston examined her and, although he declared her injuries to be slight, she was removed to the county hospital. Upon her release from that institution Chief Armstrong will order her arrest on a vagrancy charge.

It now develops that instead of being "Rose Gregory," as she had maintained, she is Annie Owens, an old police character.

PRETTY NEW YORK GIRLS HAVE TAG-DAY FESTIVAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A "Tag Day Festival" has been held by a number of society women of Mount Vernon to raise funds for the Mount Vernon hospital. From the time the girls opened until they closed pretty girls, and nations who acted as their chaperones, traveled about the city on foot, in trolley cars, automobiles and barriages collecting money from voters, politicians, commuters and strangers in the city.

Each collector was dressed like a nurse and wore a white cap and a long white apron, and in order to stop automobilists and whips they carried red flags which they waved as a danger signal. The fair ones ventured out into the middle of the streets in front of approaching automobiles and after stopping the driver with a wave of the red flag collected money from the occupants before they would let them proceed.

The five wards of Mount Vernon were divided into districts and sections so that every house in the city, every polling place, every political headquarters, every place of business, office, man and woman was "tagged."

More than three hundred women and their daughters helped to make "Tag Day" a success. It is estimated that more than $2000 was raised by the "taggers," which will be used in making improvements in the Mount Vernon Hospital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Advocating a woman jury for Sarah Koton, who killed Dr. August, Mrs. Anna L. Barber, wife of the millionaire asphalt man, declares:

"My sentiments concerning the fate of poor Sarah Koton must be the same as those of every woman interested in the welfare of the less fortunate of our sex. I am willing to subscribe a fund for her defense, and do anything within my power to aid and benefit her."

Thus spoke the wife of the millionaire asphalt man, who was seen at Ardley Towers her beautiful home on the Hudson. Mrs. Barber, club woman, anti-vivisectionist, noted for her enthusiastic support of charitable institutions and movements here and abroad, has settled every phase of Sarah Koton's romance.

"We women," she said, "can help only in a small measure, but it fills me with indignation to think that any jury of men—who know their kind so well—would pronounce this girl guilty of a crime."

King of 1646½ Lawrence street, a bride. He left Denver on the Union Pacific, and will be married in Chicago to Mrs. M. A. Hollister, a widow, of Hamline, Minn.

Mrs. Hollister, who had been visiting friends in Idaho Springs, stopped several days in Denver on her return home. She lost her purse, which contained two letters, which she had received at the general delivery at the Denver postoffice. King found the purse on Glenarm street, and addressed Mrs. Hollister a letter to the general delivery. She received the letter less than an hour after she discovered her loss, and telephoned King at the number he gave her in his letter. He met her by appointment, and returned the purse, money and checks. In this way the two became acquainted.

King's father is a member of the city detective force in Minneapolis. Mrs. Hollister is well acquainted there, and the two spent an hour or so talking of King's old home. He has not been home for years, and during this time has been employed as barkeeper for a circus, and has always been known in the show world as Alad Norton. He became homeless while conversing with Mrs. Hollister and decided to leave for Minneapolis as soon as he could make the necessary arrangements.

The acquaintance ripened into love, and King proposed to Mrs. Hollister while he was assisting her with her baggage to the union depot. She accepted, but because of urgent business in Chicago could not suit to be married here. Twenty-four hours later King boarded another train and departed for Chicago, where he will meet Mrs. Hollister, and the two will become one. From there they will go to Minneapolis to make their home.

72-HOUR HONEYMOON;
NOW FOR DIVORCE

DENVER, Nov. 12.—Married October 22, 1908. Was beaten October 22, 1908. Wants divorce November 4, 1908. The plunge into the sea of matrimony made by Miss Angelina J. Cate, a little over two weeks ago, has apparently had an unhappy effect, for she now wants a divorce from William P. Cate, to whom she was married October 22, 1908. She charges him with beating her during the honeymoon. They lived together less than seventy-two hours. He is a grocery clerk.

"Don't send me away, Effie, please," pleaded Daly.

"Dan," replied Mrs. Dunn, using a dainty, lace-bordered handkerchief with much effect, "I hate to do it, but you got me scared to death, and that's the truth, judge, your honor."

Magistrate Dunn held Daly in bonds of $500 to keep the peace. In default of which he was sent to Blackwell's Island.

Mother 'Caught' Insanity
From Insane Daughter

NEW YORK.—One of the most remarkable cases of what is medically known as "imposed insanity" is interesting specialists in mental diseases in the person of Mrs. Mary Dub and her daughter, Pauline, who were removed to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital recently from 1416 Avenue A. The mother is 52, the daughter 24 years old. Both women came from Germany about eighteen months ago. How they managed to get past the immigration authorities with their apparent cases of religious mania is a question that will probably be referred to Washington.

While insanity runs in the Dub family, there is no evidence in the history of the case, so far as Gregory of Bellevue Hospital told a reporter, to show that until the daughter developed delusions the mother's mind was not perfectly normal and well balanced.

It was the mother's constant attendance on her daughter, who imagines that she is the appointing agent of the Angel Gabriel on earth, says Dr. Gregory, which wrought upon the mother that, when the two women were removed, after help had been notified, the police, both of their minds were so perfectly attuned in their hallucinations that they suffered similar delusions at similar times.

"Now that we have separated them," said Dr. Gregory, "we hope to work a cure in the case of the mother. The daughter, however, I believe to be beyond help. In all my experience in hospitals and in the study of mental diseases, I do not believe I have ever seen so strong a case of imposed insanity—at the infection of a mental disease in somewhat the same manner as a physical complaint might be communicated."

themselves what he means by it, and the more idea that it will cure talk prevents a frank and natural relationship. In the country, therefore, men and women make friends with their own sex only until they are married, and in consequence the best one of its most subtle and refined pleasures. It is a pity, however, that these people do not take to heart the words of Sterne, uttered long ago to some feminine specimen of this objectionable class: "Surely, Madam, a friendship between the two sexes may exist and may be supported without any of the difficulties which attend matrimony. But that tender and delicious sentiment which over mixes in friendship where there is a difference in sex."

Recrudescence of Lover of Boyhood Days

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—"If I hadn't gone back for my toothbrush," said Dan Daly, a young man in a chocolate-colored suit and a pea-green hat, in Harlem court, "I wouldn't be here now."

Daly was explaining to Magistrate Breen how he happened to appear at the apartments of Mrs. Ethel Dunn, at 107 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street and gave her the alternative of marrying him or being hurled from the window with her flat furnishings. Mrs. Dunn's aunt slipped out of the house while Mrs. Dunn, who is wealthy, was tempering with Daly, and got a policeman who looked Daly up in the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station.

Mrs. Dunn had explained that Daly's appearance was a recrudescence of a "lover of boyhood days" as she called him. He had been calling on her ever since her husband, a well-to-do manufacturer, died two years ago, and constantly urged her to become Mrs. Daly, she said.

"Not a word of truth in that, judge," interposed Daly. "I boarded there with her aunt, and it was when all she handed out for breakfast, lunch and dinner was liver and bacon and apple pie."

Then Daly made his Kern like explanation of how he came to be in the house, and added that he was the aggrieved party, as a man who was there, he said, had feloniously assaulted him with a hard, round fist.

LONDON.—The differences between provincial and London society are many and deep, and one of the most remarkable is the difficulty, almost the impossibility, in country places of a friendship being formed between a man and a woman. Quite distinct from everyone knows, ever one else are still hoards of gossip, and no woman, however strong-minded, can disregard the tattle of village neighbors with composure to herself. A man is still less capable of this feat, for there is no created being more sensitive to the world's opinion than he. He knows, if he is certain in a girl's company, people are likely to ask NEWARK, Nov. 12.—As a roman's last began seven years ago, it is a member of the clergyman's church. Barker charged that the clergyman had been tentative to his wife, and he fired two bullets into Barker's body. For several weeks the clergyman hovered between life and death, but he recovered finally, although he lost the sight of one eye.

Barker was sent to prison for five years, but he was pardoned after serving two years. The shooting divided the church in Arlington into two factions. A out half of the congregation sided with the clergyman and the other half favored Barker.

Miss Haggy, who was organist of the church, was one of the staunch adherents of the pastor. She was an invalid, but she helped nurse him back to health. Barker was 46 years old, and the organist about 25, but the two struck up a friendship that culminated in their marriage.

WOMAN IS THEIR NEMESIS

UNION CITY, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Ella Tubb and other alleged "night riders" were held here under a "night rider" organization, a bitter feud at the head. She reported to have been brutally whipped and joined them to the secret.

LEAVES HER BABY ON A DOORSTEP

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Abandoned by her husband and money to buy food, Mrs. M. Y. Sheppard, this morning, of 14 Earp street, let her three-month-old infant on a doorstep at N. Catherine street this morning.

DOG BITES WHEN MISTRESS GIVES KISS

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 12.—Teddy Roosevelt in a fit of jealousy nearly killed Mrs. William H. Kirkby yesterday. Teddy is a big bowlegged bulldog, owned by Mrs. Kirkby. When Mrs. Kirkby kissed his wife as he was about to leave the house, Teddy sprang upon Mrs. Kirkby and buried his teeth in her thigh. Beaten and shaken off, he sprang at her throat. Dr. William J. Tracey attended Mrs. Kirkby and no serious consequences are feared.

After the assault the dog whined and cowered around its mistress. Nothing was done to the dog.

'My Wife Hit Me!' Hollers Affinity Earle

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Ferdinand Earle of affinity is now a black eye at his home in Monroe, N. Y., during for a large bruise on the same side of his head.

The marks of battle, he yesterday to a neighbor, were by Julia Fattner Earle, his wife, whom he wedded early this year after putting aside his first wife and his children last fall.

She Used a Chair

The affinity bride, Earle told his neighbor, used a chair as her weapon. This score between the artist and his soul-mate now stands even, for two months ago he beat and choked her and spent several days in the Goshen jail after pleading guilty to that assault.

Says She Was Hit

"What's the matter, Ma Earle?" says I.

"My wife hit me," hollers Earle. "Hit you—what with? I ask him, for it would take a pretty hard punch to mess him the way he was."

"With a chair," says Earle, rubbing his head.

"My wife never struck me," Earle indignantly replied tonight when asked about his wounds.

He is now in the hospital, and his body is a mass of bruises and cuts. His second wife and I are perfectly happy together, are we not, dear?"

"We are," replied Mrs. Earle laconically.

RESOURCEFUL TEAM CHOSEN TO BEAR THE BLUE AND GOLD

With the official announcement of the team that will represent the Blue and Gold in the annual game Saturday, the close line can be laid out. The final results of the game will be the first finishing touches that will be laid on by Coach Taylor.

The team chosen to bear the Blue and Gold is a resourceful one. It is a team that has been chosen by Coach Taylor for its ability to bear the Blue and Gold.

Enthusiasm over the team at California is gradually being built up. The first demonstration of the team's ability is the first night of the game.

Nothing now remains for the coach to do but to keep the team in the line of the game but there is little possibility of their going stale.

The fifteen men that have been selected to bear the California colors represent the best of the state.

WILD RACE ACROSS U. S.

Balloons to Start From Los Angeles

'American' and 'United States' Will Endeavor to Fly to Atlantic in Wonderful Contest to Be Held Soon.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—One of the most spectacular balloon races in the history of American aeronautics will be started from Los Angeles next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the two monster balloons, "American" and "United States," will be sent away in a wild race across the continent, that may result in breaking all world's records for long distance flights.

Two well-known accountants, Captain A. B. Mueller and Horace B. Wild, will be in the baskets, each accompanied by a navigator. Captain Mueller will command the "American" and Wild the "United States." Both of the big balloons have sailed in international races, the "United States" being the winner of the James Gordon Bennett cup at Paris in 1900.

First Great Race

The present is the first great balloon race to be started on the Pacific coast and is much in the nature of an experiment. Adventurers have, however, carefully tested and studied the currents of the coast and are confident that the wind will carry them directly toward the Atlantic coast.

A remarkable feature of the race is that the great aerial craft must surmount three lofty mountain ranges in their flight toward the east, necessitating the attainment of a height hitherto unaccomplished. The Sierra Madre Range along the coast, the Sierra Nevada, further eastward, and the Coast Range, the backbone of the coast, constitute the three barriers that must be hurdled by the big leas.

Must Soar High

Both Mueller and Wild are confident they will be able to soar high enough to clear the snow-capped peaks of the three ranges, although a height of 10,000 feet must be gained to do so. It is expected that intense cold will be encountered and the balloonists are leaving on such a contingency.

The "American" and "United States" will be inflated with ordinary coal gas, as is usually done, but pure hydrogen gas of maximum lifting power, will be employed instead. Coal gas has a lifting power of 100 pounds to the cubic foot, while hydrogen has a little more than double that amount, or exactly 72. This is expected to prove of great advantage in a flight of such height and duration as is contemplated. Each balloon will carry about three tons of ballast, divided into 125 sacks.

Speculate in Route

It is possible that they may be carried directly eastward across the Colorado desert, through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to the Gulf, or down into Mexico to the Atlantic. They may be carried farther north across Nevada, Utah and Colorado, thence across the Mississippi Valley to the region of the Great Lakes or more directly eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. Still another and more northern route is possible, before they may be carried far into Canada and northward towards the Arctic. Over whichever route the wind carries them, the adventurers are prepared for a long flight. Provisions for four days will be loaded in the cases, including a fresh water supply and other necessities. It is expected that in order to negotiate the first mountain range, the Sierra Nevada, that it will be necessary to rise far above the clouds and to remain there until after the succeeding ranges have been crossed.

All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.

Miss Rosa Lynch, 1521 Broadway, Alameda, Cal., says: "As the result of a cold which I contracted, I suffered a great deal from kidney and rheumatic trouble. I first noticed a discolored condition of my kidneys which gradually grew worse and caused me such misery that I was forced to call a doctor. He pronounced my trouble as inflammation of the bladder complicated with kidney trouble. The symptoms were very frequent and attended with pain and much discomfort. My back ached a great deal and often the pain was so severe that I could not bend or stoop. I also suffered from dizzy spells and headaches were of frequent occurrence. I was not benefited by the doctor's treatment and the many remedies that I tried also failed to reach my case. I was finally told of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box. They helped me in a short time. I continued using them, was cured and my health has since been excellent."

MRS. HAINS DEFENDS HER SON

MOTHER STANDS UP FOR BOY IN TROUBLE

Recently Made Statement to Woman on Train That She Thinks That He Is in the Right.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—General and Mrs. Peter C. Hains arrived in Washington last night from Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, accompanied by their four grandchildren, the two children of T. Jenkins Hains and the two children of Captain Peter C. Hains. They went at once to their residence.

Mrs. Hains was asked by a reporter if she had been correctly quoted in an interview in New York protesting against the severe criticism of her son, Jenkins Hains, in the "New York Herald."

"I expect you have been talking too much," said General Hains, mildly. "I believe I had talk with a woman at Little on the train, and she said, 'And if she quoted me as defending Jenkins, she quoted me correctly.'"

General and Mrs. Hains will spend the winter in Washington in order to keep their grandchildren in a military climate than New York.

INDIGESTION IS RELIEVED WITH DIAPEPSIN

Five Minutes Later All Distress and Stomach Misery Vanish and You Feel Fine.

As there is often some in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some sort of stomach trouble, would you keep a case of Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Diapepsin. Then you will readily see why Diapepsin is the best remedy for Stomach, Heartburn, Gas, Stomach, indigestion, and all the ills that come from a disordered stomach. Diapepsin is a powerful and reliable remedy for all the ills that come from a disordered stomach. Diapepsin is a powerful and reliable remedy for all the ills that come from a disordered stomach.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest. Instead, it ferments and turns to acid, gas and stomach pain, which will permeate the entire digestive tract and into the blood, and besides, poison the blood with noxious odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Diapepsin.

One candy-like tablet, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

S. P. ORDERS FIFTY PULLMAN COACHES

Arrangements Made for Cars to Cost $1,000,000, for Equipping Its Trains.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The Southern Pacific Company yesterday made arrangements with Pullman's Palace Cars for the purchase of fifty Pullman coaches to cost $1,000,000, with which to re-equip its own trains between this city and Los Angeles and trains 15 and 16 between San Francisco and Portland. The new Pullman coaches will be the latest designed Pullmans.

This big order of R. H. Hartman means in addition that the Southern Pacific will have a new set of Pullman coaches between this city and Los Angeles and Portland, which will be a duplicate of the Twenty-first Century Limited trains of the New York Central between Chicago and New York.

It is not known what percentage of the gross earnings of the Hartman system on this line is represented by passenger service, but it is estimated that the percentage, however, and Hartman has decided to enter to this kind of traffic by getting equipment of the best kind. This is one reason why he ordered a couple of sections from several different car building firms. The new passenger cars and coaches of various descriptions. This order amounted to $2,000,000 and is expected to cost the $1,000,000 order to the Pullman people.

The latter order is to embrace the following kinds of Pullmans:

Cars with two state-rooms, one drawing room, and one smoking-room.

Cars with twelve sections, one drawing room, and one smoking-room.

Cars with sixteen sections, permitting of large drawing rooms.

All of these cars will have a dining room, which passengers can repair to for daily attention to their teeth.

Instead of using the wash room as it is provided in the Pullman cars, the new cars will have a similar change made in the most quickly as possible.

The Hartman people have also decided to have a car, whose duty it will be to serve and to clean up the passengers on the trains between this city and Portland, the overland limited train, the Sunset Limited between this city and New Orleans, and the Golden State Limited via 21st Street between San Francisco and Los Angeles and Chicago.

A GOOD STOMACH

Means Good Health, Cheerfulness, Ambition, Persistency and Success.

Relief is not cure; opium will stop the most excruciating pain, but it won't cure the disease.

And it's just the same with alleged dyspepsia cures which contain opium. The opium will help to digest the food, but the stomach is left in worse condition than it was before.

You don't want opium to digest your food; you want the natural juices of your stomach to digest your food. If you have dyspepsia or any stomach trouble, you want to make your stomach so strong that it will digest its own food.

You can make your stomach so strong that you can eat what you want and all you want any time you want it, without distress.

Al-o-na will cure your dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble by building up the flabby walls, and making the stomach so strong that it will digest food without artificial aid.

In other words, Al-o-na cures dyspepsia by removing the cause.

All leading druggists are the agents for Al-o-na in Oakland and they say to every reader of THE TRIBUNE whose stomach is weak, who has indigestion or dyspepsia, that Al-o-na is guaranteed to cure or money back.

The price is only 50 cents a box, and one box is all you need to prove that you are on the right road to health and happiness.

I can't say enough for Al-o-na tablets; they have done more for me in one week than all the doctors have for the two years I have been under their care, and I will tell all I can of my experience to my friends. I can also use my name in your ad if you like, for Al-o-na is better than gold to me. I am like a new man, and am able to work once more for and live with him over a year.—W. V. TRAIN MEN PUT UNDER ARREST

Investigation to Be Made into Wreck

Eight Are Dead and Twenty-Three Injured in Disaster Near New Orleans—Still Searching for Bodies.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—As a result of the collision yesterday in which eight persons were killed and more than a score of others were seriously injured at Little Woods station on the New Orleans and Northshore railroad, two men have been arrested and a thorough investigation is being made into the wreck as well as the delay in sending a relief train from New Orleans.

Engineer Arrested

Those arrested were Wayne Blackman and A. B. Keys, engineer and conductor, respectively, of the Great Northern express, which took down the New Orleans and Northshore local train. They were released early today under $1000 bail.

Thorough Investigation

It was announced that the matter of whether the Great Northern or the Northshore crew was responsible is in doubt, but that Keys and Blackman's connection with the train which was the damage necessitated their arrest.

It was not known definitely until late last night how many persons had been killed or the extent of the injuries to others and there is still some doubt today whether all of the bodies have been found. An investigation today, however, appears to bear out the statement of the railroad officials last night that eight were killed and twenty-three injured.

—lenses shaped to harmonize with your features

The science in the optical business that goes beyond the mere test of lenses. Almost any optician can test your eyes for lenses and fit you for the proper glasses, or if necessary, refer you to an oculist.

But few opticians understand the fine points of fitting and the adaptation of the properly sized and shaped glasses to harmonize with the features of the wearer.

Simply to relieve the eye trouble isn't all that should be done.

Consideration should be given to appearance, for no one wishes to wear conspicuous glasses.

In our Oakland store we have three men (one of them a member of our firm) who make a specialty of fine fitting.

They not only know intuitively the frame that fits most comfortable, but also the shape that looks best.

They study the size of your eyes—the form of your nose—the general outline of your face.

They even shape the outlines of the lenses to match the shape of your eyes. They curve them to correspond to the curves of your countenance. They make everything harmonize so that your glasses will be a part of your features no more prominent than any other of your features.

—Yes, it IS a science. It is one secret of our success.

REPAIR WORKS TO BE BUILT SOON

Improvements Will Be Made and the Scope of the New Plant Will Be of Great Value.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Charles M. Schwab has acquired the controlling interest in the Hunters Point dock and the big plant hereafter will be operated in connection with the Union Iron Works. The price has not been made public, but it is believed to be about $2,500,000.

Improvements and enlargements will be made and the scope of the new plant will be of great value to the Pacific Coast. Two other docks now on the coast, one at Fremont and the other at Mare Island, belong to the government and the Hunters Point dock will be the only one open to the merchant marine and for commercial repairs.

Heretofore when a steamer needed repairs in San Francisco the owners had to deal with the ship-repairers, the dry-dock company and perhaps many others. Under the new order of things the Union Iron Works Company assumes control of the entire work and the dockage and repairs can all be estimated in one bill.

"HANS AND NIX" AT MACDONOUGH

SOCIALISTS GIVE A "STRAW" DANCE

BERKELEY, Nov. 12.—The Socialist party of South Berkeley gave its first annual dance last evening in Lincoln Hall, and the meeting place was crowded to its capacity with the merry dancers.

The dance was what the Socialists term a "straw" dance, to denote the democratic simplicity of the party, and their hope for big harvests. The hall was decorated to represent a New England barn.

Chris Zimmer acted as floor manager, and was assisted by a capable committee.

MISS M. HOYT.

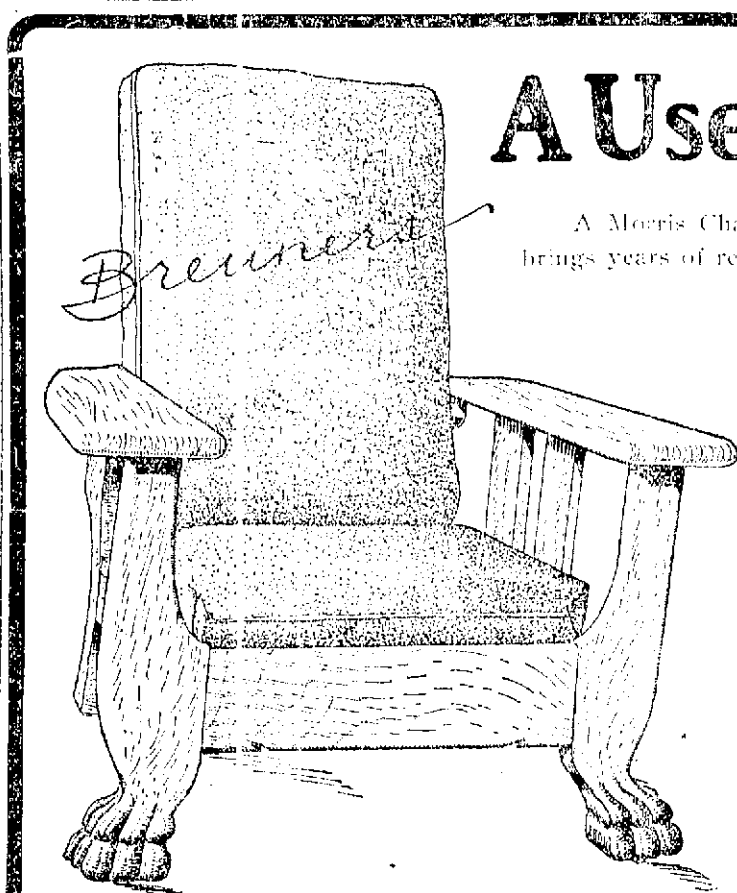

Dixon and Bernard Will Appear Tonight in Musical Gaiety That Is Winner.

These funny fellows, Dixon and Bernard, in their latest edition of the musical gaiety, "Hans and Nix," with its dancing, its rollicking dances, its rollicking songs, its rollicking songs, its rollicking songs, etc., is announced as the attraction at the Macdonough theater November 12, 13 and 14.

The classification of this skit has caused the newspaper critics throughout the country much thought and worry, inasmuch as it borders on light opera, tingles with farce comedy and cleverly admits of many novel specialties.

"Hans and Nix" is an elusive title, which does not confine the members of the company to any particular walk in the dramatic highway, but allows them to wander off and change costume, sing and dance, form stage pictures, illustrate facts of the day and assume the guises of all of these things, exercising to perceptible influence upon the progress of the play.

In brief, "Hans and Nix" has no serious intent, either in dialogue or music. The piece was constructed to amuse for an evening; reason is not considered, but nonsense is. Dixon and Bernard, of course, are the principal fun makers, and they have in their support, well known farce comedy and operatic favorites.

OPTICAL SNARES

The Kryptok far-and-near glass introduced by us over five years ago, and which we have steadily contended to be the best far-and-near glass the world ever saw, is now sold by the foremost opticians in America, in Europe, and all over the world.

The immense success of the lens is being used by unscrupulous persons as a snare for unwary customers, for they are taking orders for Kryptoks but delivering an imitation.

When your optician states that he is selling Kryptoks, demand a written certificate or refuse delivery. Thus you protect all honest opticians;
thus you render a service to all who suffer with eyesight troubles, and thus you protect your own purse.

BLOWN OFF TRAIN BY WIND AND KILLED

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—William F. Shanley, 23 years old, an employee of a Brooklyn newspaper, was struck by a gust of the stiff westerly gale which prevailed here last night and, losing his balance as he reached for a hat, was swept from an elevated train platform in Brooklyn, under an approaching train. His groans were heard while the wrecking crew endeavored to remove his body, but he died as the work progressed.

COLDS AND CROUP IN CHILDREN.
"My little girl is subject to colds," says Mrs. Wm. H. Berg, No. 41 Fifth street, Westchester, N. Y. "Last winter she had a severe cold and a terrible cough, but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented from taking the 'croup' by the timely use of this remedy. As soon as he shows any signs of croup I give him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for three or four days, which prevents the attack." This remedy is for sale by O. G. Good Bros., Seventh and Broadway and Twelfth and Washington streets.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Says if More People Attended
Theaters They Would Suffer Less From Insomnia and Restlessness at Night.

One of Oakland's most prominent physicians was an interested spectator at one of the recent performances at the Bell Theater recently and so enjoyed himself that he volunteered a few remarks to Mr. J. Cohn, the proprietor of that popular house, that are full of good, sound common sense. Entirely unhesitating on the part of Mr. Cohn, this prominent physician and surgeon of Oakland, who enjoys a large acquaintance in Alameda county, said that if the great majority of people who are suffering from nervous diseases, insomnia, restlessness at night and kindred ailments, would occasionally attend a high-class vaudeville performance such as is given at the Bell Theater each week, they would find themselves fast becoming rid of their troubles; their minds would become rested; they would forget self and insomnia and restlessness at night would become an unknown thing. There is nothing like a change of diet for the mind. It requires it as much as the food that goes into one's stomach.

Try this doctor's prescription: It's cheap medicine and a medicine you will enjoy taking. The Bell is the most popular theater in Oakland today. The programs are high-class, refined and thoroughly enjoyable by every member of the family. Two performances each evening—one at 7:45 o'clock, the other at 9:20 o'clock—and the usual matinee at 2:45 in the afternoon. Arrange to attend this evening, or some day this week, and try out this physician's advice. It may make a new person out of you, especially if you are included among those who do not rest well at night.

'NEW YORK BRUSH' LATEST HAIRCUT

High School Boys Drop Onto
New Design, and Modified Pompadour All the Rage.

"New York brush" haircut is the latest fad in the Oakland high school, and even the boys who object to the new style is in danger of being forced to conform to it or be designated as a "quitter," or have some of his locks clipped off.

Within the last two weeks the New York brush became the style among the high school boys, some of whom have cut off their hair with that of a pompadour, with the exception that a slight part is made to one or the other side.

Among the members of the "Three Weeks' Club" the new fad first gained local recognition. The members, about sixteen in all, entered into a pact that each would have his hair cut according to the new Eastern style.

There are between 200 and 400 boys in the Oakland high school, and it is the boast of some of the members of the Three Weeks' Club that it will be but a short time until all are wearing their hair according to the new fad.

AMERICAN BLOCK COAL

Mrs. G. Stinson of 1722 Bay street, Alameda writes as follows:

"I have had so much trouble having different kinds of coal, and it was very much vexed to find that your coal could be relied upon.

It is a grate of S. H. H. American Block Coal is that it burns clear and does not cause soot hanging on the walls and ceiling. I am so glad to know where I can buy a good coal."

We have scores of letters like that.

One woman says it heats her boiler for a bath practically as quick as a gas heater.

The secret of its efficiency lies in the tremendously long flame which almost completely surrounds the oven.

It is really the only coal to burn.

Big size, $11 a ton, or 60c a sack.

Large lumps, $12 a ton, or 65c a sack.

THINK GIRL MET WITH FOUL PLAY

Police Will Investigate Death
From Poisoning of Woman
Found Yesterday in S. F.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Detective Sergeant Riordan was this morning detailed by Captain Kelly to investigate the death of Miss Olive Leach, or Martin (it is not known which is her right name), who was found dead at 1327 Steiner street at noon yesterday from cyanide poisoning.

It was at first thought that the case was merely one of suicide, but the fact that no vital containing any poison was found by her side, and also that no note or message of any kind was left, has led the police to become suspicious of foul play. It is also asserted that a number of her valuable jewels and other belongings have disappeared. It is known that she had a quarrel with a young man who had been paying her attention a little over a week ago and it is for this reason that the police are now searching.
